The British Precast annual golf day offers the chance to entertain and network with customers. After the success of 2016 this event is growing as an enjoyable and professional networking event.

Taking place on the PGA Championship course, the golf day will have a shot gun start. International Golf Show Trickster David Edwards will provide on course entertainment throughout the day, followed by a highly skilful trick show in the evening. Over a three course meal the day's golfing champions will be presented with their awards.

Throughout the day the message is "Why to choose British Precast members as your suppliers."
